

The Accidental Accountant™
Using Improvisation To Create Positive Results

Leveraging Leadership Through Improvisation

In today's business climate, successful leaders need the ability to communicate their vision and their ideas, along with having the ability to adapt to the changing business landscape and work within an arena of uncertainty, all the while, moving forward. Successful leaders possess these qualities: respect, trust, support, listen, focus, adapt and have a YES AND attitude.

These are the same qualities that successful improvisers possess. Successful leaders and improvisers can think-on-their-feet, process information quickly, make their teammates look good, see different perspectives, be creative and innovative, and make significant connections for the good of the team.

Learning Objectives:

Following completion of this course, participants will be able to:

- Demonstrate methods in helping to get past your inner critic
- Illustrate ways to help increase one's creativity and innovation
- Explain the positive power of YES AND
- Describe methods of managing your stress and the stress of your team
- Develop ways to increase your ability to listen to understand

Recommended CPE credit: 1 - 1.5 hours

Prerequisites: An open mind

Designed for: Practitioners, auditors, analysts, firm administrators, and finance professionals

Course Level: Basic